

To Whom It May Concern: I strongly oppose further deregulation of the media and am deeply concerned about this initiative. Two major media conglomerates control over 35% of the US market, a violation of existing rules, and this initiative would only expand their influence. The media is critical to our democracy, and putting it exclusively in the hands of the rich and powerful is the first step down a very dark road.